Provider of the only adaptive platform for the real-time enterprise opens office in Paris, France

Walnut Creek, CA. – February X, 2004 – As Agentis Software continues to see unprecedented demand in the European market, the company announced today it has opened a local sales office in Paris, France. The new office is part of an ongoing expansion of Agentis that will take place over the next twelve months. The company's objective is to have a local presence in all key European markets within the next 12 months.

The Need for Localized Contact

“As our first office in Europe, the Paris office is strategic toward growing our relationship with our customers in France and Europe at large,” said Jean-Yves Dexmier, President and CEO of Agentis Software. “This announcement further underscores our enthusiastic commitment to serving the European market.”

Heading the office is Yves Ducros, the first locally-based representative of Agentis Software in France. Global Operations

Agentis Software is a global company with offices in the United States of America, Australia, and now Europe. Agentis plans to formalize its office in London, where the company already has employees working to support a customer. In addition, all of Agentis's current offices are undergoing increases in staff to support a growing demand for its flagship product, AdaptivEnterprise™ Solution Suite, and to continue the high level of service that Agentis' customers have come to expect and appreciate.

Unique Solution

Agentis is the only provider of an adaptive enterprise solution development and maintenance platform, AdaptivEnterprise™ Solution Suite. AdaptivEnterprise™ enables organizations to implement flexible enterprise solutions that were not possible to build before. It provides business system optimization, integration, and continuity while improving user productivity and system performance for distributed mission-critical applications. AdaptivEnterprise solves complex problems, such as changing business circumstances, unanticipated disruptions, and real-time application evolution and maintenance requirements.

AdaptivEnterprise™ is built on a unique breakthrough called Goal-Directed™ Agent technology. Goal-Directed™ Agent technology radically simplifies J2EE application development, resulting in a substantial savings in the time and cost of application delivery and maintenance. It makes complex applications adaptive and more robust, because a goal-directed agent has the decision-making capabilities to handle exceptions and unplanned situations. In addition, AdaptivEnterprise™ uses advanced development techniques – graphical modeling and instant code generation and deployment – to further improve gains in the time and cost of delivering enterprise solutions. AdaptivEnterprise™ enables enterprises to continuously develop, integrate and enrich stand-alone and composite applications that are mission-critical.
